

INT. GAS STATION - DAY

George enters the gas station and grabs some snacks for the road trip. He approaches the counter and speaks with ROSE Hart, 30s: who is working behind the counter.

ROSE
(smiles)
Hello, can I help you?

GEORGE
Actually, you can. I'm having a little trouble getting my card to work on the machine outside.

ROSE
(Rose frowns)
We've been having trouble with our reader on that pump all day for some reason. Let me help you with that.

George hands Rose his credit card

GEORGE
(smiles)
Thanks, I appreciate it.

ROSE
Not to worry, I'll set you right up. Unleaded right?

George stares at Rose for a moment to admire her

GEORGE
That's right.
(A beat)
I hope I'm not out of line saying this, but you have a very beautiful smile.

Rose smiles sheepishly at George

ROSE
You know, that's the nicest thing anyone has said to me all day.

GEORGE
(blushes)
Well, I had to say it. It's the truth.

ROSE
(smiles)
That's very sweet of you. So where are you headed anyway?

GEORGE
My daughter and I are headed to Utah.

Rose looks up and George and hands him his receipt

ROSE

That should be nice. It's beautiful there.

GEORGE

(smiles)

Yeah, we're really looking forward to it.

ROSE

(smiles)

Well, you have a good trip.

George waves goodbye to Rose

GEORGE

Thanks. Bye.

ROSE

Your welcome. Bye.
